

Insight Authorized by Grantsburg School District

The Grantsburg Board of Education voted unanimously to authorize the formation of an online charter high school in partnership with Insight Schools that will serve students across the state of Wisconsin, aged 14-20.

GRANTSBURG, WI - January 8, 2007 -

The Grantsburg Board of Education voted unanimously to authorize the formation of an online charter high school in partnership with Insight Schools that will serve students across the state of Wisconsin, aged 14-20. The school will provide an alternative academic approach and learning environment, which will be flexible to meet the schedule of today's students.

The formation of the school – the Insight School of Wisconsin – is the natural progression of the district's success in using technology in education to serve Wisconsin students. Students in the district's current school, the Grantsburg Virtual School, which has successfully been serving dozens of Wisconsin teens for years, will now have the option to enroll in the Insight School of Wisconsin. They'll continue to enjoy the benefits of earning their diploma online supported by a school mentor. In addition, they'll receive access to an Insight course catalog of close to 130+ courses with six academic tracks, receive a school-issued laptop computer with wireless card, printer and internet stipend, and benefit from a individual learning plan tailored to their abilities, interests, and goals.

After approval was granted, Dr. Joni Burgin, Superintendent of the Grantsburg School District, said, "With this school and partnership, I'm excited by our ability to achieve our vision for online learning in Wisconsin with Insight's help. Our success in Wisconsin to date with the Grantsburg Virtual School, the resources and expertise that Insight brings, and our shared passion for online learning is only good news for Wisconsin teens."

Keith Oelrich, founder and CEO of Insight Schools, said, "We take finding the right partner to work with very seriously. You can imagine our delight in working with the Grantsburg team. Their passion for education, experience in online learning, and vision for the future was completely in step with ours."

Students that are interested in enrolling in Insight School of Wisconsin can do so during the Wisconsin Open Enrollment period which begins February 5th and ends February 23rd. Interested students should follow this link or call 1-866-800-0027.
